Please come to a talk by Professor Lisa Wang:

"To Be a Gentleman - Research in Traditional Morality"

Professor Wang is a visiting scholar from China Women's University in Beijing, China.

Join Us!

Wednesday, November 1
3:00-4:30 PM
English Department Conference Room AL 226

In the traditional ethics in China, the greatest contribution is from Confucianism. The core value of Confucianism is not the absolute value of the individual, but their value to "family, country and the world", that is based on contributions to others, family and society. How is this to be done? That is to be a gentleman. What kind of man is a gentleman? He has a sense of benevolence, sense of shame, sense of modesty and a sense of righteousness. Under the promotion of this spirit, China created a brilliant culture in the long course of history.

*****

Huan Wang is a Ph.D. and an Associate Professor of Philosophy. In 2011 she graduated from Capital Normal University of China. Now she works in China Women’s University. Her main research areas are in Ethics and Marxist Philosophy.

Please let students know about this talk!

Sponsored by the SDSU Department of Philosophy